Catalogue Maintenance Notes

- Product prices and availability were reviewed in August 2026.
- Warehouse assignments may change following stock balancing or regional demand adjustments.
- Product imagery, colour variants and packaging may differ from the physical unit while specifications remain unchanged.
- For products supplied in random designs or assortments, individual variants cannot be guaranteed unless a separate product listing states otherwise.
- Age guidance is not a substitute for supervision. Customer-service teams should refer safety-related questions to the product compliance record.
- Discontinued products should not be reactivated without category-management approval.
- Batteries, chargers, paints, glue and other consumables are included only where explicitly stated in the product record.
